TODD C. GORDON

Pure as the dawn on the brow of thy beauty
Watches thy soul from the Mountains of God
Over the fates of thy children departed
Far from the land where their footsteps have trod
Beacon of hope in thy ways dreary lighted,
Pride of our hearts that are loyal and true;
From those who adore unto one who adores us,
Mother of Mothers, we sing unto you. — Brodie Payne

Benediction
REV. CLAIBORNE M. BELL
Recessional	University Band

Honorary Degree Commendations

SAMUEL LEE KOUNTZ

Samuel Lee Kountz is a nationally and internationally recognized surgeon whose achievements are landmarks in medical history.

A pioneer in transplant surgery, he has performed more than 600 kidney transplants with a remarkably high postoperative survival rate for his patients. He currently is doing important research on the mechanisms of producing tolerance to transplanted organs, the major unsolved problem in such surgery.

Dr. Kountz is a native of Lexa, Arkansas, and received most of his educational and professional training in this state. He holds a Bachelor of Science Degree from Arkansas A. M. and N. College (now the University of Arkansas at Pine Bluff), an M.S. from the Fayetteville campus of the University, and his M.D. from the University's Medical Center in Little Rock. Additionally, he held fellowships in surgery at Stanford University and the Postgraduate Medical School of the Hammersmith Hospital in London, England.

He has held several faculty positions at Stanford and currently is Professor and Head of the Department of Surgery at the Downstate Medical Center in Brooklyn, New York. He has received a large number of professional honors and is affiliated with many prestigious medical organizations and professional societies. He was the organizer of the International Congress of the Transplantation Society. He is President-elect of the Society of University Surgeons, a fellow of the National Academy of Sciences, and a member of the Editorial Boards of the publications, "Surgery" and "Kidney."

RAYMOND H. REBSAMEN

Raymond H. Rebsamen is a leading Arkansas businessman and financier whose numerous philanthropies have contributed significantly to the progress of the State.

Mr. Rebsamen is a native of Lancaster, Texas, and attended the public schools in Fort Smith, Arkansas and the University of Arkansas in Fayetteville. A veteran of World Wars I and II, he began his working career in Arkansas in the fields of banking and accounting. Today, he is chairman of the Board of Rebsamen International, Inc., with four large and diversified subsidiaries. He is a former chairman of the Board of the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis and currently serves as a director of Arkansas-Louisiana Gas Company and Dillard Department Stores, Inc. Some of his civic leadership responsibilities have included his presidency of such groups as the Greater Little Rock Community Chest, Greater Little Rock Chamber of Commerce, Arkansas Livestock Show Association, Urban Progress Association, Arkansas Industrial Council and the Committee of 100 in Pulaski County, which raised the funds to purchase the land for the Little Rock Air Force Base at Jacksonville.

Some of Mr. Rebsamen's substantial philanthropies include funds to help build churches, school buildings and hospitals in Arkansas. To the University of Arkansas he has provided such highly significant contributions as a large fund for an experimental investments program in the College of Business Administration and the gift of 80 acres of land for the campus of the University of Arkansas at Little Rock.

He is honored by the University today for nearly 50 years of service and philanthropy in behalf of education and municipal and State improvements.

IRMA FITCH GIFFELS

Mrs. Irma Fitch Giffels is widely respected and admired for her achievements in nutrition and home economics, as well as for her educational philanthropy and her exceptional capabilities in the business world.

In honor of her accomplishments, Mrs. Giffels was selected as the first woman member of the University of Arkansas Development Council and serves on the Council's Executive Board. She has served in this capacity with distinction and with a charm and graciousness which have endeared her to all associated with her in various fields of activity.

Mrs. Giffels is a native of Hindsville, Arkansas. She received her Bachelor of Science degree in Home Economics from the University of Arkansas and her Master of Science degree in Nutrition from the University of Tennessee. She started her career as a science teacher in the Rogers High School and later became a District Home Economist for Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company. After five years in this position, she became Director for Home Economics for the National Association of Food Chains in Washington, D. C. During this period, she also served on the Food Advisory Committee to five major governmental agencies.

She was married in 1946 to Raymond F. Giffels, founder and president of one of the world's largest architectural engineering firms in Detroit. Following his death in 1963, Mrs. Giffels, as the major stockholder in the firm, served in an executive capacity as the company's advisor on policy and financial matters.

Her services and contributions to the development of higher education include the establishment of a substantial scholarship fund at Michigan State University and the endowment of a Distinguished Chair in the College of Engineering at the University of Arkansas.

NATHAN GORDON

Nathan Gordon is a man whose remarkable courage and outstanding leadership qualities have made him an authentic hero in his native State.

During his service in World War II, he won the nation's highest military award, the Medal of Honor, as well as two Distinguished Flying Crosses and six Air Medals. He holds an unprecedented distinction in Arkansas politics, having served ten consecutive terms as the State's Lieutenant Governor. In this position, he won the enduring respect of Arkansas legislators for his uniquely capable handling of his responsibility as presiding officer of the State Senate.

Mr. Gordon also enjoys an enviable professional reputation in the field of law. He is a past president of the Arkansas Trial Lawyer's Association and a former chairman of the Executive Committee of the Arkansas Bar Association. In addition to his law practice, he is Vice President and member of the Board of Directors of the Morrilton Security Bank.

Mr. Gordon is a graduate of the University of Arkansas School of Law and played two years as an end on the Razorback football team.

He is a man whose poise, courtesy and thoughtfulness have exemplified his many appealing qualities. He is held in deep affection and regard by his professional, business and political associates.

BESSIE BOEHM MOORE

Bessie Moore is a dynamic civic leader in Arkansas who has successfully undertaken many important challenges in the educational and cultural development of the State and nation. She is a woman of great enterprise and initiative who is known across the country for her leadership abilities.

The libraries of Arkansas and the nation are particularly indebted to Mrs. Moore for her services. She won the American Library Association Trustee Award in 1954 in recognition of her work in library advancement. She is a past president of the Association and has been a member of the Arkansas Library Commission since 1941, serving as its chairman for 13 years. She organized the first county library in Arkansas at Pine Bluff in 1926. Active in promoting progressive library legislation, she was a member of the Advisory Committee to the United States Commission of Education on the Library Services Act. She has been a United States delegate to four meetings of the International Library Association which were held in Italy, Finland, Germany and Russia. She presently serves under a White House appointment as a member of the National Commission on Libraries and Information Science.

Mrs. Moore also is a leader in the field of economic education and is the author of numerous articles and reports on this subject.

She holds an honorary Doctor of Laws degree from the University of Arkansas.
